- how long the information is needed to provide our services and operate our business;

Cookies, Analytics, and Other Tracking Technology

Cookies and Tracking Technology

We want you to be aware that certain online tools exist to help us serve and recognize you when you visit our website. We receive and store certain types of information when you visit our website. When you access the website, we (including companies we work with) may place small data files on your computer or other device. These data files may be web beacons, cookies, clear gifs, pixel tags, e-tags, flash cookies, log files, or other local storage provided by your browser or associated applications. These tracking technologies, which are often referred to collectively as cookies, collect information about your use of the Sites and other websites and applications, including your IP address, web browser, mobile network information, pages viewed, time spent on pages or in mobile apps, links clicked and conversion information. We use this information to, among other things, analyze and track data, determine the popularity of certain content, deliver advertising and content targeted to your interests, and better understand your online activity.

Do Not Track Signals

Some browsers have a “do not track” feature. It lets you tell websites you visit that you do not want them to track your online activity. These features are not yet uniform across browsers. Our Sites are thus not currently set up to respond to these signals. For more information on Do Not Track signals, please visit <https://allaboutdnt.com/>.

Opting Out of Cross-Contextual Behavioral Advertising and Targeted Advertising

We allow third-parties to provide analytics and advertising services and serve advertisements on our behalf across the Internet and in mobile applications. Our advertising partners may collect information about your activities on our Sites on your current device and combine it with information about your activities on other websites, mobile apps, and devices. They may also collect IP address, browser or operating system type and version, and demographic or inferred-interest information, as well as personal information if you have submitted such information to us through the Sites, such as your name, postal address, email address, or device ID. They collect such information using server logs, cookies, web beacons, tags, pixels, mobile advertising IDs (such as Facebook cookies or Google's Advertising ID), cross-device linking, and similar technologies. For example, our advertising partners may use the fact that you visited our website to target advertising to you on other websites and mobile apps on your current device or on other devices you use. They may match your browsers or devices if you log into the same online service on multiple devices or if your devices share similar attributes that support an inference that they are used by the same person or household. This means that information about your activity on websites or apps on your current browser or device may be combined and used with information collected from your other browsers or devices. These third parties partners use this information for our and their own advertising, analytics, attribution, and reporting purposes. To learn more about interest-based advertising, tracking technologies, and how to opt out, please visit <http://www.aboutads.info/choices>. You can disable the sharing of your personal information for cross-contextual behavioral advertising or targeted advertising through online cookies and tracking technology by visiting the Torrid website and selecting the Cookie Preferences link (located at the bottom right of the home page) and changing your cookie preferences to ensure that Targeting cookies are disabled.

Session Replay Technology

We use session replay technology on our Sites. Session replay technology, also referred to as session playback or user experience (UX) replay, collects information regarding, records, and tracks your interactions with a website or application. It then transforms those logged user events (such as mouse movements, clicks, page visits, scrolling, tapping, etc.) into a reproduction of what you actually did on the website or application. We use session replays for quality control, customer service, fraud prevention and security, and marketing purposes. Our session replay technology is owned and operated by a third-party who acts as our service provider. The information collected by this technology may be collected by, transferred to, and stored by our third-party service provider.

Virtual Customer Service Assistant and AI Chat Service

We use chatbots to help provide customer service and support, including through the use of a virtual customer service assistant. A chatbot is a software application that mimics human conversations in text or voice interactions on our website or through our customer service hotline. It enables the communication between a human and a machine, which can take the form of messages, text messages, or voice commands. The chatbot is artificial intelligence that is designed to work without the assistance of a human operator. It responds to questions posed to it in natural language as if it were a real person using a combination of pre-programmed scripts and machine learning algorithms. When asked a question, the chatbot will answer using the knowledge database that is currently available to it. If the conversation introduces a concept it isn't programmed to understand; it may pass it to a human operator. This occurs even if you communicate with the chatbot through text or SMS. If you use our chatbot services, including through text or SMS, we will collect any personal information you provide to us. We will also create and store a transcript and records of your chat interaction with us which will be shared with and stored by our third-party chat service provider. We use these transcripts and the information you provide for quality control, customer service, fraud prevention and security. If your use of the chatbot includes text or SMS, standard message and data rates will apply. By using the chat through text or SMS, you consent to our chatbot service provider and/or us contacting you via telephone, at any phone number you have provided, including on your wireless phone, via text, automatic telephone dialing system, and/or artificial or prerecorded voice.

Global Privacy Control and Opt-Out Preference Signals

Some browsers or browser extensions also allow you to tell websites not to share your information for cross-contextual behavioral advertising through the "global privacy control" or other opt-out preference signals. We will respond to these signals in a frictionless manner. Please note that we may not be readily able to associate an opt-out preference signal with other personal information such as your email address. If you configure this setting on your browser, certain features on our site may not work and you will receive less targeted advertising. You will also need to turn the setting on for each browser that you use.

Google Analytics

We use analytics services provided by Google Analytics. If you would like more information on how Google uses data when you visit or use our Sites, please visit www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners. If you would like to opt-out, Google provides an opt-out tool which is available at <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>.
